

The Disaster Prepared Kitchen

I would have never believed that terrorists would attack the United States as they did on September 11, 2001. I would have never dreamed that I would see gas sell for $4.00 per gallon in the early millennium. A disaster as big as Hurricane Katrina was unfathomable to me. Those in my generation have never lived in a serious state of lack. I've always been able to go to the grocery store and purchase whatever I wanted. The shelves have never been bare.

I am not a disaster expert. I am not an alarmist or a conspiracy theorist, but I am a level-headed realist. I am also a mother and a wife, with a deep God-given desire to provide for my family. I want to be prepared. This book is a compilation of the research I did for my own family. These are the recipes and groceries that I have on hand in case of a disaster. I hope that your research will bless you and your family. There is such peace in being prepared!
